Wildlife

Visitors can find themselves trekking down shaded country lanes to encounter delightful vistas with native wildlife, such as white-tailed deer, raccoon, osprey, and perhaps the elusive beaver and fox. Our lakes and streams are abundant with a plentiful selection of bass, bluegill, catfish and saugeye (a hybrid cross between a walleye and it's cousin the sauger).

Festivals & Events in Carroll County

Check the calendar for one of the frequent festivals and small town celebrations dotted throughout the year. In addition to our traditional county fair there are several gatherings offering unique experiences for the family. Tractor pulls, demolition derbys and fireman homecomings are still very common during the year. Eventually Autumn arrives and the season is kicked off by The Great Trail Festival. The first weekend in October features the Atwood Fall Festival followed the next weekend by the Algonquin Mill Festival. These celebrations herald the explosion of Ohio's wonderful Fall foliage which brings out many a "leaf peepers". These galas celebrate and educate attendees about the lifestyles of pioneers in Ohio's beginnings in the early 1800s.

Historical Aspects in Carroll County

The Algonquin Mill Festival commemorates the area's traditional legacy with reenactments and living history demonstrations on the second weekend in October. The Fighting Mc Cooks of Civil War fame made Carrollton their home. Major Daniel Mc Cook and his nine (9) sons and several other relatives were famous for their bravery on the battlefields and at sea during the trouble between the states. The family home is located top end of the square and is now a museum, complete with Dan's renowned Henry Rifle which he used to protect the White House in the early days of America's Civil War. Three of the buildings located around the square – the Courthouse, the McCook House and the Van Horne Building are all on the National Registry of Historic Sites.
